ALL OVER BUT THE SHOUTING

Reviewing the week's politics, Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., cables one would imagine England to be in the midst of a fierce Parliamentary session instead the middle Parliamentary vacation.

For the moment all other issues are subordinated to the land question. Lloyd-George's campaign has caught on wonderfully. In England and his speech this week, adding to his already big programme for reforms in towns, has spread his net still wider.

But notwithstanding the abounding proofs of the seriousness and far reaching effects of the new land policy, Ireland still holds the field this week, and the oratory of Bonar Law and even Sir Edward Carson plainly proclaims that all is over except the shouting. Bonar Law prefaced his retreat by a pretense of fighting a severe rear action, but retreat is sounded all along the Tory ranks. The principle of home rule, of an Irish Parliament, of an Irish Executive, and of the indissoluble unity of Ireland now is placed beyond recall, and practically accepted by all political parties. One question alone remains outstanding. What price is Ulster Orangemen to get so as to save her face and enable her leaders to surrender without too much humiliation?

One price already is dismissed from even consideration—namely the exclusion of all or any part of Ulster from the rest of Ireland and from the jurisdiction of the Irish Parliament.

There is some hankering in the minds of some Liberal Ministers, notably Churchill, for giving the four Ulster counties a suspension of some short term of years from inclusion in the Irish Parliament, but this solution may also be dismissed as impracticable. Only one solution may be considered within the range of practical politics. That is some form of local administration in Ulster, or as Sir Edward Grey called it, home rule within home rule. Even this solution presents many practical difficulties, both from the point of view of the administration and from the proved inability of Ulster Orangemen to treat the Catholic and Nationalist minority with any semblance of fair play. The expulsion from the Belfast shipyards with every circumstance of brutality, of 2,000 Nationalist workmen leaves some doubts as to safely trusting the control of police to such bigoted authorities, and the bitterness of Orange religious bigotry makes equally unsafe giving to Orangemen any control of education, but some formula may be yet found for solving these difficulties, and the whole situation now is reduced to a discovery of the formula.

This sudden complete collapse of the whole Tory fight against home rule mainly is due to the collapse of Carsonism. Carsonism in turn went down before the terror of English Toryism of the widespread effects of Carson's appeal to violence in the face of general labor unrest in England and the inner though silent revolt of all business men of Belfast against the prospect of universal bankruptcy. A further factor in creating this breaking is the discovery that not a single Liberal Minister was unwilling to employ all the military and legal forces necessary to put down any attempt of Orange rebellion. Carson, or at least his English friends, discovered at the same time that his campaign of bullying and his appeals to religious bigotry, instead of frightening or weakening, had only hardened and stiffened English and Scotch opinion in favor of home rule.

Sir Edward still goes on mumbling his old war cries and he is touring Scotland with myself and others pursuing him for the next two weeks, but already he is a back number and his speeches sound like faint echoes of far off and unremembered things. As to the by-elections, Reading is uncertain and may go to the Tories, but we shall keep four Scotch seats, though one contest may be complicated by a three cornered fight with a Labor candidate as well as a Tory opposing a Liberal candidate, but even this prospect does not alarm seriously the Liberals, and touring through Scotland as I am this week I can testify that I never addressed more numerous, enthusiastic and determined audiences than at this moment.

All is over but the shouting.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.
Gov. McCreary last Saturday issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, calling on the people of the State to observe Thursday, November 27, as a "day of thanksgiving and prayer," in honor of their accustomed occupations on that day and give thanks and praise to God for the blessings He has conferred upon us." Further the Governor says "our State has had prosperity, good harvests, productive industries, happy and contented people. Law and order have been preserved. The glorious heritage of self-government has been upheld and strengthened, and the year has brought us better appreciation of our duty and higher desire for good achievements; and wherever we may look or whatever we may think, we have abundant cause for praise and gratitude to God."

CALLED TO HEAVEN.

In the passing from earth of Mrs. Margaret Garry, beloved wife of Thomas Garry, the West End and St. Patrick's church lost a woman of most lovable character and possessed of all Christian virtues. Following an illness of two months, the result of nervous breakdown, which she bore with fortitude, the deceased passed peacefully away at the family home, 500 North Nineteenth street. Mrs. Garry made her home in the West End since her marriage and was ever the faithful wife and mother. For years she took an interest in various charitable enterprises and was a substantial member of St. Patrick's church, where she found much consolation in approaching the sacraments. Mrs. Garry reared a family of devoted children, three daughters and three sons—Misses Elizabeth, Margaret and Sara May Garry, and John, Walter and Morgan Garry. The funeral services were held Thursday morning, St. Patrick's church being thronged with sorrowing friends and relatives from all sections of the city. The Rev. Father Cronin, V. G., was the celebrant of the high mass of requiem.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Trinity Council, Y. M. C. A., began the fall season with much activity, and at the meeting next Monday will obligate a number of candidates preparatory for the coming joint initiation. Tomorrow morning the members of Trinity will visit St. Aloysius church in a body and receive holy communion for the repose of the souls of the deceased members of the Y. M. C. A. Attorney Benedict Elder will deliver an address Monday night, and on November 22 the Entertainment Committee will provide a mock trial that will be very amusing. The annual election will be held on Monday, December 1, and a number of warm but friendly contests are looked for. Rev. Cletus Brady, C. P., of the Sacred Heart Retreat, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address on December 8, when effort will be made to have the largest attendance of the year.

SHERLEY WILL SUCCEED.

A Washington special says it was learned on good authority Saturday that Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, Chairman of the all powerful Appropriations Committee of the House, will resign within the next few weeks to accept an appointment by Gov. Glynn to the New York State Supreme bench. The Supreme Court Justiceship pays $17,500 a year, in New York, whereas the Congressional salary is but $7,500 a year. Mr. Fitzgerald has a large family. He has never been regarded as a wealthy man, so the increase in revenue will be most acceptable. Chairman Fitzgerald will be succeeded as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee by Representative Swager Sherley, of Louisville, who is the ranking member.

GIVEN LINEN SHOWER.

An elaborate and very enjoyable linen shower was given Tuesday evening by Miss Alice Murphy at her home on Sixth street in honor of Miss Loretto Fitzgibbon, who was married this week. Those present were Misses Loretto Fitzgibbon, Alice Murphy, Margaret Ross, Ethel Murphy, Florence Torpey, Nellie Fitzgibbon, Ella Agnes Dignan, Marie Fitzgibbon, Mary Murphy, Catherine Bender, Edith Able and Ethel Torpey. Vocal and instrumental solos were rendered by Miss Loretto Fitzgibbon, Miss Alice Murphy, Miss Ethel Torpey, Miss Margaret Ross and Catherine Bender. A delightful repast was served and many, many happy returns wished for the young bride.

EUCHE AND DANCE.

The entire membership of Division 2, C. H., is giving its undivided attention to the coming grand euche and dance, in the hope that it will be an event that will reflect everlasting credit upon their efforts. This affair will take place at their hall, Thirteenth and Oak streets, on Thursday evening, November 20, to which all are asked to come and bring their friends. Many things are under way that can not but help contribute to its success, and already a number of choice gifts have been donated.

TRIDUUM.

Beginning November 19 there will be a Triduum at the Sacred Heart church, Seventeenth and Broadway. Rev. Patrick Walsh, the pastor, will be assisted by the Pastoral Fathers, and expects that at this time every member of the congregation will make the jubilee. The new electric lights now being installed will be turned on during these services.

POSTPONED.

The euche and lotto party that was announced to take place November 5 for the benefit of the Catholic Women's Club has been postponed till next Wednesday night, November 12. The ladies in charge are prepared for a large attendance and promise their friends a really pleasant entertainment.

SCOTT BULLITT DEFEATS FOX

The election of Dr. John H. Buschmeyer for Mayor and the entire city and county Democratic ticket last Tuesday will not only prove to be a great impetus in the progress of the town and district, but which is just as pleasing to many is the setback given to the bigots and fanatics who had been injecting religion into the campaign, and for which end they had been working since the election of two pronounced A. P. A.'s to the Board of Education in 1910, that being the stepping stone of what they fondly expected to result in the capture of the entire municipal government in 1913.

Business and professional men of all creeds realized that the election of the nonresidents comprising the Progressive ticket would mean the retarding of Louisville's growth, and furthermore the city would be shunned by prospective residents, in addition to the many who stated in advance that if such a calamity befell the city as the election of bigots they would seek homes elsewhere. Spurred on by the yellow stories emanating from the Louisville Herald, the different precincts had a large representation of the Junior Order members and other A. P. A. societies on the morning of the election, supposedly there for intimidation, as none of them resided in the precincts where they were stationed and were not acquainted with a single voter, being huddled together in groups and easily singled out as to their sentiment, ignorance and prejudice being plainly written across their forbidding countenances.

Frank McGrath, Chairman of the City and County Democratic Committee, is justly proud of the splendid work of the organization. However, especial praise is due John J. Barry for the showing of the Fourth and Fifth wards, Joe Overberg in the Eighth and Ninth wards, Frank Dugan in the Tenth ward, the only real backslider in the great victory being the Twelfth ward, and the boys from that district will have to sit back and eat humble pie for some time while listening to proud achievements of their associates in other districts, but the Twelfth has a proud record in the history of local Democracy and is sure to again come to the front in future contests. The thanks of the community are due County Attorney Scott Bullitt for his decisive victory over Capt. H. I. Fox, who has been heralded as "the man who gave Sherley such a close race" into the ears of the public, that they had become sick and tired, and the Louisville Herald might be excused for running Fox's picture just once more with the statement under it that this is "the man who was beaten by Scott Bullitt by over 6,000 votes."

In a letter to the Kentucky Irish American about six weeks ago Duncan Clark, the editor of the Herald, remarked that in his departure for Chicago just after the election he would leave the editors of this paper under good Progressive government, but after the severe routing given Duncan by Rev. Weislinger, Clem Huggins and other speakers, in addition to Tuesday's result, it is expected he will make his departure quietly, leaving unwept, unhonored and unused, with not even a Bull Moose band present to play "Rule Britannia."

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Hefner, aged sixty-seven years, were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Patrick's church. For some time past she had been in failing health and her death resulted from general debility. The deceased was the wife of John Hefner, 1820 High street, and leaves besides her husband one sister.

Thursday morning the funeral of Mrs. Margaret Nilan, aged forty-one years, took place from St. Ann's church, Rev. Father Hill officiating at the solemn mass of requiem. Mrs. Nilan was the sister-in-law of Patrick Fallon, 620 Jarvis avenue, where her remains were viewed by many. She will be missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances, by whom she has always been held in respect and esteem.

Dennis Tighe, an aged and respected member of St. Patrick's congregation and for many years employed by the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, died Monday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Landrum, 1649 Portland avenue. His funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Patrick's, attended by many old friends and acquaintances. Besides his daughter two sons survive him.

One of the young and faithful members of St. Boniface church was claimed by death last week, when the soul of Raymond Schulte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schulte, 104 East Walnut street, was called to its eternal reward. The deceased was an exemplary Catholic young man and his loss will be mourned by a host of friends, to whom his death came as a great shock. Funeral services were held Sunday morning at St. Boniface church, after which a large number followed the remains to St. Louis cemetery. Surviving him are his parents and six brothers, Henry, Arthur, Charles F., Edwin, William and Sylvester Schulte, and one sister, Mrs. H. Huesman, of Cincinnati, to whom most heartfelt sympathy is extended.

DANGERS

Confront Society By Those Who Rather Steal Than Work.

Laziness and Low Moral Tone
Cause of Downfall of

There Is No Danger of Men or Women Starving In America.

WHERE GIRLS CAN BE SAFE

Society is confronted with a dangerous class of men, who would rather steal than work; and another class, not quite so dangerous, who would steal rather than work for what they regard as unfair wages, says the Watchman. The jails and penitentiaries are full of both these classes. There are also two classes of female malefactors; those who work and steal, and those who, unwilling to work and afraid to steal, take to the street. It is comparatively easy to deal with male criminals. They are not criminals all the time, and their criminality usually ends with the attainments of its object. With women it is different. When a woman enters upon a bad life she constitutes a menace to society every minute and hour of the day and night. She is a moral infection and is worst when best. There is no mercy for an abandoned woman, any more than there is for a wolf or a mad dog. The ancients stoned her to death, and they knew a quick way of getting rid of her. A man who would rather steal than work is beyond reform; the man who would rather murder and maim than work for what he considers an insufficient wage should be closely watched; but the woman who, for any reason, would adopt a life of sin is a social impossibility. Society can not suffer her to pollute its moral air.

There has been held in all the large cities of this country an investigation of the cause and cure of female immorality, and the consensus of opinion is that the chief factor in the downfall of women is low wages. The question is put to the American people, has not a woman a right to sell her virtue to keep from starving? As well ask has a woman the right to kill to keep from starving? But the question is not put fairly. There is no exclusive alternativeness between starving and a life of shame. There is no danger of women or men starving in this country. Honest people need never go hungry for long. There are plenty of charitable people to come to their assistance, even when the State fails to do its duty toward them. The question should be put in this form: Has a woman a right to sell her virtue rather than wear poor clothes? Has a woman a right to prey on the morals of society if she is paid less than $25 a week? And put in this way we have a flood of light thrown on the awful infamy. Shame in a woman is unspeakable, and nothing weighs in the scales against female virtue. Men are bad at times and for a short while; a bad woman is bad twenty-four hours in the day and every day. To make the laws of morality apply equally to men and women would be to put on the same scale of physical ill tuberculosis and the toothache. The false and hypocritical morality of the world is shown nowhere in clearer light than in their partiality for the man or woman who commits female lapses. From virtue men never condone the poor woman who sins once; but they have infinite pity and forbearance for the woman who adopts unchastity as a profession.

These men who are conducting investigations of female immorality show their unfitness for the task by their non-admission. The underworld is peopled entirely by those who are after easy money. The temptation of the burglar and the baud is the same—easy money. Female unchastity is a plague, and bad women should be quarantined like lepers. Society is willing to support her colonies; it will gladly pay for keeping hands impounded. This is the easiest and most sensible way. And it would in a short time be self-sustaining, for the reason that there would be none to impound. But the rascally and hypocritical world does not want to get rid of its bad women; and if a way were discovered to blot out the social evil it would be fiercely combated. God and God's church have infinite mercy for the lapsing sinner, man or woman; but professional sinners are not sinners; they are enemies of man, and there is as much difference between the man or woman that sins from weakness, and the man or woman who adopts a criminal profession, as there is between daylight and the darkest night. Professional burglars, professional counterfeiters, professional pickpockets and professional bad women form a class apart, and justice to the innocent and decent and law-abiding demands that they be locked up and kept locked up.

We are seriously told that a girl in a department store who gets less than $10 a week in salary can not live on it and be honest and decent. Men live and support a family on that much. What is the matter with domestic service? Girls can get $3 a month in a private family, where they fare as well as their mistresses, and live in their own rooms. Why is it so hard to get a servant girl? The slums teem with the girls who would rather go to the bad than "work out." Laziness and a low moral tone—but chiefly laziness—are the cause of the downfall of women.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

At the Church of St. Mary Magdalen was solemnized the marriage of Miss Della Agnes Hoban and Thomas J. McWalters, many of their friends being present to witness the ceremony. Handsomely attired in white satin trimmed with real lace and pearl ornaments, the bride carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Della Agatha McWalters, sister of the groom, wore lavender satin draped with Irish point lace and carried a bouquet of American beauties. The groom was attended by Patrick J. Gannon. Following the church ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Gannon, a sister of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. McWalters left on an extended trip through the East, where they will visit the bride's sisters, Mrs. P. J. Jennings, at Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. A. C. Chasson, Newton, Mass.

TURKEY RAFFLES.

The Columbia Athletic Club will have novel entertainment for its members and friends this month. For the purpose of adding to the debt-paying fund it has been decided to hold a series of turkey raffles at the club house on East St. Catherine street on the evenings of November 15, 22 and 24, at the last of which the Ladies' Auxiliary and their friends will take part. Arrangements have been made for an abundant supply of refreshments and a good time each night. The affairs given by the Columbia Athletic Club have always been successful, and it is hoped by this means to raise enough revenue, in addition to what is on hand, to meet the obligations that will shortly fall due.

MOURN HER DEATH.

Louisville mourns the death of one of its most beloved and foregone women, Mrs. Henry Kraft. After a gradual decline and two weeks of serious illness of a complication of diseases incident to her advanced years, the end came at her home, 1237 Hamilton avenue, where she was surrounded by the members of her family. Mrs. Kraft was a devoted member of St. Peter's German Evangelical church and was a generous giver to the poor, especially the orphans. By her cheerful Christian life she gained the admiration and high regard of her neighbors and friends of all denominations. Besides her husband she leaves five sons and one daughter. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the residence, the interment being in Cave Hill cemetery.

CONSISTORY.

Rome dispatches the first of the week later that the next public consistory must be held before December 2 to confer the red hat on Cardinal De Hornig, Bishop of Veszprim, who was named Cardinal last year. There has been no mention so far of the names of new Cardinals, but some nominations are expected.

COLER'S PLAN FOR EDUCATION

Hon. Bird S. Coler is a man who has devoted considerable serious attention to the matter of education. He has been writing and talking intelligently and forcefully upon the topic for several years, and he is generally pretty well equipped with facts to substantiate his contentions. He says the Providence Visitor. When he was Comptroller of the City of New York he made a few observations on things in general and his philosophic temperament led him to seek the causes for present-day conditions. Though a Methodist in religion, his persuasions on a good many subjects are decidedly Catholic; his attitude on the question of the necessity for religious instruction in the class room agrees perfectly with the position long held by the church and tentatively recommended by the best educational minds outside of her. His book, "Two and Two Make Four," and an earlier pamphlet entitled "Socialism in the Schools," are not only well worthy of perusal but stamp their author as a man who knows whereof he speaks, and who immediately is entitled to a respectful hearing. He delivered an address in Lawrence a short time ago, advocating in substance to "let every creed control its own schools, and to let the State pay per capita for the education of each child so educated."

Whenever public opinion and religion are mentioned in the same breath, there are patriotic Americans who immediately begin to take notice. Contention and agitation lead some to denounce parochial schools as un-American; others claim against the preposterous possibility of compelling Protestants to contribute to the support of Catholic institutions; others again proclaim categorically the impossibility of ever evolving any school scheme wherein the secular and the religious may be given attention under the same roof and on the same day. And all agree that Catholics are looking for something, they are not going to get, in the line of remuneration from the State, for teaching the young.

Mr. Coler recommended a per capita plan of payment for denominational schools. He figures out to the fraction of a cent how much the education of each child costs the State. The amount of the bill is easy to determine. The payment of the same may come by and by. The other proposition, about letting every creed conduct its own schools, does not seem to offer as easy a solution. He would not, however, compel every denomination to establish and maintain separate institutions of learning in every place, for this would be a needless procedure and a hopeless impossibility.

His position is that of an observant and fair-minded Protestant, who knows, as he has declared, that the Catholic church can stand up against the State-supported schools and Protestantism can not. His plea is for the life of non-Catholic Christianity in its unequal contest with agnostic infidelity. Catholics were ahead of the age when they settled the education matter for themselves. They just went out and built their schools and paid for them and supported them. Protestants may do likewise sometime in the indefinite future, if there be any of them left with notions of the value of religious creeds. At present it is not their way. They prefer to have the State pay the bills incurred by the training of the few children they have. Their ministers, their conventions, their best thinkers are decided upon the need of daily religious instruction, if morals are to be safely guarded. Kant purely philosophic morality has become an exploded theory. The sanction of a divine law is needed to make the many straight and keep them so. Religion is the only sure foundation for moral living, and the old truth is emphatically asserting itself in these our days. The need for the religious school is becoming more and more recognized; it would be cowardly as well as senseless to consider its establishment out of the question because of the difficulties appearing in the way. Other nations do fairly well in maintaining separate sectarian schools, and moreover is not the public school system itself but a comparatively recent departure from the plan advocated by Mr. Coler?

CONFIRMS 100 CONVERTS.

Bishop Schwebach, of La Crosse, administered the sacrament of confirmation to two classes, one of 250 at St. Patrick's church and another of 100 at the Sacred Heart, Eau Claire, on Sunday. Of the 350 candidates confirmed at St. Patrick's church in the morning 100 were converts.

RESULT OF ELECTION.

The result of the election held in Louisville and Jefferson county on Tuesday must be gratifying to all liberty-loving and God-fearing people. It was a victory for freedom of conscience and freedom of worship for all Christian people, and Jews as well. The Progressive campaign was bound to fail in any free-born American city where the people are aroused when their right to exercise individual liberty of action in worship is put in jeopardy. The Progressive campaign was conducted on false pretenses, abuse and vituperation from the beginning. The insectivorous politicians who belong to the proscriptive religious organizations kept in the background, professing that they were taking no part, but urging that all they wanted was good government. What they really wanted was office, obtained under false pretense. Had they obtained power the city government of Louisville would be like that which now obtains in Mexico and other God-forsaken countries.

All honor to the Democrats who worked so hard for their party nominees; all honor to the Republicans who aided them when they saw there was a bare possibility for the Progressives to win; all honor to the Protestant preachers who were not too narrow-minded to join in the crusade; and finally, all honor to good citizens in general who made it possible for the election of Mr. Buschmeyer and those with him on the ticket.

Let us hope that during the next four years all of those who were elected will do credit to the office they hold by enforcing the laws of the city and county. Of this we have assurance that it will be done as it has been done during the past four years.

DEFAMING THE CITY.

Mr. Wood Axton, late Progressive candidate for Mayor of Louisville, in speaking of the result of the election, said over his own signature:

"It is like living in Mexico to live in this town with these things happening all the time."

Mr. Axton made this statement late on the night of the election. He is so quoted in the Herald of Wednesday. Mr. Axton is presumably a sane and safe business man, and he is reputed to have large business interests in the city of Louisville, which he thus maligns. There is an old proverb about a bird that defecates its own nest. Does Mr. Axton desire to be placed in that class?

The excitement incident to the election is now over, and the Kentucky Irish American calls upon Mr. Axton to withdraw this vicious slur upon Louisville. There are good people living in Mexico, but they are cursed with a villainous government. Mr. Axton knows that no such conditions prevail in Louisville as in Mexico. Official statistics show that Louisville is one of the most law-abiding and best governed cities in the United States.

Does Mr. Axton want it to go out to the people of all the earth that anarchy prevails in the city of Louisville as it does now in Mexico? Does he wish his patrons to believe that they are buying from a city inhabited by such a people?

We await Mr. Axton's reply.

DRONES.

Some of our high-brow Catholics, and this kind can be found in every community, advocated a keep still policy in the election campaign just closed, when their religious freedom was attacked by the Bull Moose leaders and followers, and were only awakened to the fight for their rights by the ringing statements of the two Protestant ministers, Dr. Aquila Webb and Dr. E. L. Powell, in addition to the stirring speech of Judge Matt O'Doherty.

IN BAD PLIGHT.

The wild and woolly A. P. A. sheet from Missouri, known as the Menace, found itself in the middle of a bad fix in taking sides in the New York Mayorality campaign. Judge Edward McCall, who was the Democratic candidate, is a Catholic, and John Purroy Mitchell, who was elected on the Fusionist ticket, is a Catholic, this causing the Menace, after floundering around quite a bit, to advise the fanatics to vote for the Socialist candidate. The Menace crowd were also handicapped in circulating the fake K. of C. oath, as both of the above candidates are

THEY STOOD FIRM.

The voters of Louisville stood firmly for protected homes, for pure government, for clean methods and honest men, for continued progress and increasing prosperity, and they therefore elected Dr. John Buschmeyer as their Mayor for the next four years.

Judge Edward D. White, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was sixty-eight years old Monday, hale and hearty and adding laurels to his irreproachable record. Extending our congratulations, we pray that he may be spared to long reside over the most august tribunal that exists.

Why should Americans become interested in the so-called Anglo-American London show while England turns down the Panama Exposition? The latter can well get along without the British Government, which has been maneuvering with Mexico against the United States.

"Today's election, however, will not be stolen. The citizens of Louisville are fully aroused. Their patriotism is awakened and vibrant." Thus spoke the Herald last Tuesday morning, and for once in the campaign it told the truth, which was verified by the vote of the people.

The Irish Standard, of Minneapolis, came out last week with twenty pages, filled with good reading matter and much business. Always an excellent paper, Editor Regan has placed it in the front rank of the Catholic press.

All praise to Chairman Frank McGrath and his committee, the Post, Courier-Journal and Times, who did excellent work for the benefit of our fair city. Of our own part we say nothing, but must admit that the Herald helped some.

Public opinion, as voiced by the people of Louisville last Tuesday, has spoken vigorously and forcibly in approval of Mayor Head and the present administration.

FOR CHURCH DEBT.

Next Friday afternoon and evening a euchre and lotto will be given at Bertrand Hall, Sixth street, between Oak and St. Catherine, for the church debt fund of St. Louis Bertrand's church. Games will be called at 2:30 and 8 o'clock and many handsome prizes will be awarded.

BISHOP FOLEY.

The venerable Bishop Foley, of Detroit, on Tuesday celebrated the silver jubilee of his consecration. Pontifical mass was celebrated at the Cathedral and later in the day there was an elaborate reception for the priests. Twenty-five years ago, when Bishop Foley was made head of the Detroit diocese, the Catholics did not number 50,000. Now there are fully 200,000. Next Friday night a public reception will be tendered Bishop Foley in honor of his eightieth birthday, arrangements having been made for the attendance of 30,000 people.

RITUAL MURDER THEORY.

Russia is again engineering the ritual murder theory and tries to fasten it on the Jews. Such an act is most un-Christian and most distasteful. There is not the slightest historical truth in the accusation that the Jews have ever used Christian blood in the offering of their sacrifices. The whole charge is a monstrous fable concocted in hell, and we are happy to say, condemned by no less than four Popes, Innocent IX., Gregory X., Martin V. and Clement XIV.

PATRICK FORD'S ESTATE.

The estate of Patrick Ford, editor and founder of the Irish World, will not exceed $12,000, according to the estimate set forth in the petition for letters of administration filed with Surrogate Ketchum, of the Surrogate Court of Brooklyn, by Robert E. Ford, eldest son of the deceased editor. The real estate is valued at $8,000 and personal property at $4,000. But he left a name and reputation that surpasses monetary value.

TRIBUTE PAID PRIEST.

A delegation of residents, Catholic and non-Catholic, of Atlantic City, N. J., recently went to Trenton and presented a purse of $1,000 to Rev. Richard A. Nolan, until recently assistant pastor at the Church of the Star of the Sea in Atlantic City. Father Nolan's health failed him, and he has been granted leave of absence by Bishop McPaul. The delegation was headed by City Commissioner Harry Bacharach.

COMPENSATIVE.

After all, there is such a thing as compensative justice in the world. Jews may derive a little satisfaction from the thought that one of their race, Sir Isaac Rufus, has been selected for the high post of Lord Chief Justice of England at the very time when the monstrous calumny about "ritual murder" is circulating around the earth.

IRISH FAMILY FAITH.

At the banquet which followed the consecration of the Most Rev. Dr. O'Shea, as Coadjutor Archbishop of Wellington, New Zealand, Archbishop Redwood, of that See, told the following story: "It was about thirty-eight years ago, when traveling in the Taranaki district on my first episcopal visit, I was sitting on the box seat of a coach of the principal road to Haveria, when a good lady came out with her children, the eldest just five years old, stopped the coach, and in the presence of the passengers, among whom were several Protestants and others, asked my blessing for herself and her children. I said to myself, there is something great about this person—such a good faith deserves some remarkable reward. I gave them my heartiest blessing. I always considered that the blessing given to that good lady and her children was the heartiest I ever gave, especially after such an example of such real good old Irish faith. The faith of that family was rewarded, one of her girls becoming a nun and her son becoming the Archbishop of O'Shea's parish in Haveria, Ireland. He is the youngest Archbishop in the world, being just past forty-three years of age."

WHY THEY LOVE HIM.

One reason why Cardinal Gibbons has drawn to him men of every creed and of no creed at all, is that they see in him who, like Aben Adhem, "loves his fellow men." The simplicity of his character, the purity of his life, lend a dignity and command an esteem which no title could bestow. To the nation at large he is more than a great church dignitary, a distinguished figure who ranks with the most notable of living Americans. But Baltimoreans have a more intimate feeling for him as a good citizen, foremost in every good work and word, a friend who enlists their warm affections. At seventy-nine he has the satisfaction of looking back upon a long and useful life, full of good deeds, and honors worthily worn, and looking forward to the years—many of them, we devoutly hope—when he will yield the richest harvest.—Baltimore Sun.

PAINTING AND PORTRAIT.

John D. Crimmins, Esq., of New York, a Director of the Catholic University, presented it recently with a very fine painting of "The Last Moments of Leo XIII." by the celebrated portrait painter, the Marquis de Wentworth. This fine canvas now hangs in the parlor of Divinity Hall, and is much admired by the numerous visitors to Washington. Mrs. Margaret Ryan Bowen has presented to the university a life-size portrait of her brother, the late Archbishop Ryan. It is a splendid likeness and will be unveiled on the occasion of the meeting of the Board of Trustees on November 19.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY.

The Cardinal Gibbons Memorial Hall has been greatly improved by two beautiful electric standards erected at the main entrance. They are of exquisite Gothic design, in bronze, and set off the great edifice in a pleasing way. A solid Macadam road has been laid from the main entrance in front of Gibbons Hall, serving also Albert Hall. With the broad new granite pavement finished both halls are now provided with comfortable and elegant access.

MOTHER CHURCH PASSES.

In celebrating the seventy-ninth anniversary of its consecration last week the old Cathedral of St. Louis observed its last as the mother church of the diocese. The new Cathedral will be ready for occupancy early next year. The sermon on the occasion was delivered by Very Rev. M. S. Ryan, President of Kenrick Seminary.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
 the Past Week—General
 News Notes.

Now that the election is over, watch-out for several initiations. The Memorial day committee will report at next meeting of the County Board.

The division and auxiliary at Pueblo, Col., are securing many new members.

Division 4 will meet Monday night, and all the members are urged to be present.

The national insurance plan, submitted by the National Board, must be voted on this month.

Mrs. John Arthur, State President, last week visited the Ladies' Auxiliary at Newcastle, Ind.

Division 3 was the leader in disposing of "Confession" tickets, with Division 4 running a close second.

Recently the division of Seattle put fourteen members of the Juniors through the short initiation.

The County Board will meet the latter part of next week and hear a report from the committee on the "Confession" play.

Mrs. Mary McWhorter was greeted with a meeting that packed the hall upon her homecoming to Chicago after her extended tour through Canada.

Massachusetts Hibernians will help arrange a benefit for O'Donovan Rossa, the Irish patriot, who is reported as dying and in very poor circumstances.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday night. They are making great preparation for their Thanksgiving matinee dance.

Cardinal O'Connell has appointed Rev. John J. Ryan, P. R. of Cambridge, Mass., Chaplain General of the Ancient Order for the archdiocese of Boston.

Hon. Michael F. Conroy, who is serving his third term in Congress and has just been appointed to the Ways and Means Committee, is a New York City Hibernian.

Four members of the order will occupy seats in the next General Council. They are Thomas Dolan, Charles J. Finegan, Michael J. McDermott and Thomas J. Garvey. All were re-elected.

Tonight at St. Paul, Minn., there will be a great reunion of the Hibernians of that city and Minneapolis. The programme arranged will attract the members from both Hennepin and Ramsey counties.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will give a most enjoyable matinee dance Thanksgiving afternoon at Schreiber's Hall, Twenty-sixth and Bank. Hibernians from all the divisions are invited and expected to attend.

Miss Nellie Nolan has been making a splendid record as President of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Her administration has given the utmost satisfaction and has been productive of increased numerical and financial strength.

The winter social season of the Boston ladies' auxiliaries opened Wednesday evening in the new Hibernian Hall with a banquet and entertainment, preceded by a fine concert of Irish music lasting from 8 until 9.

Mayor Fitzgerald and Gov.-elect Walsh were invited to the reception held by Boston Hibernians last Tuesday night in honor of Patrick F. Hastings, Vice President of Division 25, just returned from a visit through the thirty-two counties of Ireland.

Minneapolis Hibernians had a cordial reception for the representatives of the Gaelic League when they visited that city. At a joint meeting National President Regan, Fionan McCullom and others delivered addresses stimulating the Gaelic League movement.

From what we learn it is safe to say the complimentary reception and entertainment at Falls City Hall on the night of November 18 will eclipse anything heretofore held by Division 1. All members of the order and their lady friends are extended an invitation to be present.

USEFUL PRIZES.

Elite Council, Knights and Ladies of Security, will give a euchre and lotto next Wednesday evening at Delmont Hall and are offering two loads of coal as leading prizes. Games will be called at 8:15 o'clock sharp.

IMMIGRANTS.

A total of 1,197,892 immigrant aliens entered the United States during the past fiscal year, 37,023 coming from Ireland, and bringing over $1,985,703. Of this large number the destinations showed only thirty-four to Kentucky.

IMPRESSED ORIENTAL.

"Killarney's lakes and fells" have so impressed one of the greatest of Oriental potentates—the Maharajah of Mysore—that he has determined to set up an establishment of his own in that district in Ireland.

FAILURE.

The "Independent Catholic Church" set up recently in New Britain, Connecticut, in opposition to the Church of the Sacred Heart, has gone out of existence. It was a failure from the start.

FAILURE TO BE NATURAL.

We imply no disparagement of cultured manners when we venture that not one young woman in twenty that you meet is really natural in her demeanor. A frosty, stilted artificiality seems the order of the hour. Most of them stammer, "to hell" and call it laughter. They mince instead of walk. If they cross a room it is to "glide," as though nature has appendaged them with ball-bearings in place of feet. While when it comes to the festive handshakes, which was originally designed to express a whole-hearted hospitality and cordial good-fellowship they reach out toward you a limp, helpless pultaceous wad of pulp, as though to say "do accept this gossamer member, agitate gently, and return if you wish."

SMILE ALWAYS.

Start the day with smiling, and it will not seem so long;
 Start the day with music, and the heart will join the song.

Start the day with sunshine, and the clouds will soon depart—
 There are no clouds or shadows where there's singing in the heart.

Start the day with kindness, and the toll will not be great;
 Start the day with blossoms, and the rose will deck your gate.

LATEST FASHION STYLES.

Bodices are flat with sloping shoulders.

Eponge is one of the most popular materials.

Lynx and red fox are much in fashion's favor.

Butterflies are fashioned of velvet, silk and lace.

The newest neckwear is trimmed with edges of fur.

Fur, lace net or plaid taffeta trim the separate blouse of chiffon.

Bright green and pink is a combination now favored by fashion.

The vogue seems to be for dresses of woolen velvet, duvetyne and moire.

Gowns and wraps are adorned with fringe of beads, silk or metal thread.

Some of the newest tailored suits have skirts with a single flounce on without fullness.

WHO CAN SAY?

There are many mysteries in life and this is one of them. Why do some people part so reluctantly with the dollar and twenty-five cents due for a quarter's rent, and give up so cheerfully the two dollars necessary to procure a good seat at one performance of a popular show.

CLOTH FROM WOOD.

Articles of clothing from wood fiber are being made in Europe. The material for a suit costs about fifty cents. Clothing made of this material, however, can not be washed.

THE REASON WHY.

The sweet young thing was being shown through the locomotive works.

"What is that thing?" she asked, pointing with her dainty parasol.

"That," answered the guide, "is an engine boiler."

She was an up-to-date young lady, and at once became interested.

"And why do they boil engines?" she inquired again.

"To make the engine's tender," politely replied the resourceful guide.

IRELAND.

 the Recent Events Culled

A verdict of death from an apoplectic seizure was returned at an inquest held on Patrick McDermott, of Strathroy, who was found lying dead in a field at Connewy, Omagh, by a search party, who had been searching for him from the previous evening.

Quite recently forty-three bullocks, the property of Sir Josslyn Gore-Booth, were driven from his lands at Ballygealeen, near Sligo.

All the animals, none of which were injured, were subsequently recovered. One of them had a white handkerchief tied round its neck.

The death is announced of Mrs. Anne Maguire, mother of Rev. B. Maguire, of Ballybay, and of Hugh Maguire, Clerk of the Clones Union.

The deceased lady, who had reached an advanced age, was esteemed for her many good qualities, and her demise has occasioned sincere regret.

The Very Rev. Canon Roche, of Horeswood, County Wexford, was accorded an enthusiastic reception on his arrival home from Rome, where he had an interview with the Holy Father. When he reached Camille station he was met by his parishioners. The village was illuminated, and after addresses were read a torchlight procession was formed and escorted Canon Roche to the parochial house.

YOUR DEAD.

Soon the very name of the dead is not mentioned, save at some very rare interval, and then is mentioned with but a scanty prayer not much deeper than the careless lips. Oh, shame, that it should be so! Is this our boasted friendship; is this the affection that was to survive the grave; is this the memory that was to be eternal? Our friends lie prostrate in the intensest agony; the means of help are at our hands, and yet we are too cold, too careless, too forgetful to apply them.—Rev. Joseph Farrell.

FREEDOM FROM WRINKLES.
 Often they come from imaginary care.

Do not worry over the little things.

Above all things do not be a "fusser."

And whatever else you do, forget that you have "nerves."

So many women allow their faces to become tense and set—and then wonder why "lines" develop.

Relax the muscles, cultivate a pleasant expression and remember that lips which curve upward and smile are much more attractive than the drooping sort.

HEARD IN DUBLIN.

William E. Gladstone, the great statesman, used to tell how an English lady, a friend of his, characterized a cab for the day in Dublin, said to the driver:

"You won't mind if I take you for the day?"

"Is it me mind, me lady?" was his gallant reply. "Sure, I wouldn't mind if ye tuk me for life!"

"No one but an Irishman could have said that without giving offense," was Gladstone's invariable comment on the story.

SALLY LUNNS.

Four eggs, one tablespoonful of sugar, a pinch of salt, half a tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of milk, flour to make like sponge cake batter, two teaspoonfuls of yeast powder. Bake in a moderate oven and serve warm for hot tea.

STEAM BROWN BREAD.

One cup sweet milk, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups corn-meal, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup flour, pinch of salt, one-half cup raisins if desired. Steam three hours. This is delicious either hot or cold.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

The Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America meets next Friday night in regular monthly session at St. Mary's Hall. During the past week representatives of this committee entered into an arrangement with Manager Hilton, of the Walnut-street Theater, whereby the Catholic Knights will have a benefit there from Monday, November 17, to Saturday, November 22. Pictures of special interest to Catholics will be presented, and in addition there will be a vaudeville bill of extra merit. Tickets will be ten cents and will be on sale in all parts of the city.

WILL WEAR GOLD.

Gov. James B. McCreary last Saturday appointed John J. Score, of this city, aide de camp on his staff with rank of Colonel. Col. Score is State President of the Catholic Knights of America in Kentucky and also Consul Commander of the Woodmen of the World. For many years he has been a valued employee of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company. He will wear the gold stripes with credit to himself and the State.

PUSH GAS LINE.

Vice President Donald McDonald, who is General Manager of the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, has stated that the natural gas, for which the lines are being rapidly laid, will reach Louisville early next month unless unforeseen obstacles are encountered. Workmen pitched camp just over the Shelby county line at Conner's Station last week and are working toward this city. This is only one of numerous gangs that are working on the line.

O'TOOLE REUNION.

Miss Della O'Toole, recently arrived from County Galway, Ireland, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo F. Paddacks, 625 Ohio avenue, Jeffersonville, at whose home a family reunion was held last week in honor of their guests. Miss O'Toole and Mrs. Paddacks are sisters and they separated in Ireland several years ago. Two other sisters, Miss Anna O'Toole and Miss Mary O'Toole, and two brothers, Anthony O'Toole and Theodore O'Toole, are residents of Louisville.

JUNIOR CLERGY.

Rev. Charles Curran and Rev. William Selbertz, of New Albany, will go to Indianapolis next Tuesday, where they will assist at the examination of the junior clergy of that diocese on Wednesday.

ABLE TO WALK.

Assistant Fire Chief Michael Cassin, who had a narrow escape from death in a collision while responding to an alarm several weeks ago, is recovering from his injuries and is now able to walk out. His friends were all glad to see him this week.

SCHLEGEL IMPROVES.

George Schlegel, County Assessor-elect, who has been seriously ill at his home, 136 Pope street, for six weeks, is materially improved. Dr. J. M. Morris, who is attending him, expects the patient will be able to be up and about the latter part of next week.

WALNUT THEATER.

The Walnut Theater continues to increase its hold on public favor, its splendid photo play pictures and excellent vaudeville bills packing the house at every performance. During the week beginning November 17 there will be a special run of films for the Catholic Knights of America, who have entered into an arrangement with Manager Hilton for a benefit week at that time.

LIBRARY ASSISTANT RESIGNS.

Miss Sadie Doyle, for a number of years assistant in the circulation department, has severed her connection with the Louisville Free Public Library, to accept the position of librarian with the Stewart Dry Goods Company. In her new position Miss Doyle will have charge of the book department and of the circulating library which the store maintains for the use of its patrons.

NOVEMBER INTENTION.

The November Intention of the Sacred Heart League is "Spiritual Reading." It is a topic that should appeal earnestly to every true Catholic. The Catholic press is languishing, while the filthy output of the opposition is being zealously scattered broadcast.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

This coming Sunday being the annual communion Sunday for the entire Atlantic jurisdiction of the Young Men's Institute for the benefit of the deceased members, Mackin Council will approach holy communion in a body tomorrow morning at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Cecilia's church. Secretary Kibby has notified all the members, and every one is expected to perform this duty. At the regular meeting Monday night a number of candidates will be balloted for and arrangements announced for Mackin's part in the joint initiation that will soon take place. Interest in the coming election of officers is becoming apparent, and it is certain there will be many candidates for the honors.

O'HARA'S MEMORIAL TABLET.

The artistic Italian marble tablet to the memory of Theodore O'Hara, the great Kentucky poet, erected by the Kentucky State Historical Society, was placed at the head of his tomb in the Frankfort cemetery last Friday. On the front of it in bas-relief is a harp, with O'Hara's name beneath, followed by a verse from his "Blivouac of the Dead." On the other side, facing his sarcophagus, is a pen and wreath, with two more verses from the "Blivouac of the Dead" inscribed beneath.

GAYETY THEATER.

"The Warning," with Rodney Kanous and Marie Nelson taking the principal parts, will be the Gayety Theater offering next week. This play presents a strong picture of modern life, the scenes being laid in Texas and New York City, which gives ample opportunity for contrast. The management that offers this production has provided a large company to surround the two chief players.

EUCHE AND LOTTO.

The ladies of the Altar Society of St. Brigid's congregation will give a eucure and lotto party Monday afternoon and evening in the basement of the new church, Hepburn and Baxter avenues. The alumnae of Holy Rosary Academy will give a eucure and lotto party on the afternoon and evening of November 20 at the residence of Mrs. Daniel Doherty, 1231 West Market street.
